Atomic Bomberman is blasting its way onto the PC, and it looks like it's bringing with it all the addictive fun of the console versions, including a multiplayer option where up to 10 players can blow each other away. New rendered 3D graphics provide some eye candy—and humorous death sequences. More than 20 power-ups will include everything from detonators to classic B-man diseases that you loved (or hated) the first time around. Two play modes,

Classic and Enhanced, and a plethora of custom game options will also be available. Getting bombed was never so much fun!—Major Mike
